You have your J.D., now it's time for the Bar Exam!

- There are different requirements and specifications depending on which state you plan on taking the bar.
- There are multiple options available to Bar Applicants, (like porting a student’s MBE score, transferring an entire UBE score, or applying for Admission on Motion after a few years of practice) that could qualify an individual for Bar acceptance in a different jurisdiction.
- With the on-going implementation of the Uniform Bar Exam and with more States willing to accept bar applicants from other jurisdictions, there are more opportunities than ever to search for employment in different jurisdictions.
- Students should not feel limited to apply to the bar in the state where they went to law school.

How this Guide Works

- This guide is organized with information about each individual state bar exam. Each page is designed to provide general information about applying for admission to that state's Board of Bar Examiners.
- Some states choose to use the Uniform Bar Exam (UBE) and some states choose to administer their own special set of jurisdiction specific exams. Each page will include exam information as well as any additional state specific information relating to admission.
- Because information varies state-by-state, state bar application information can quickly become confusing and overwhelming. This guide seeks to make the process of applying to state bar associations as organized and clear as possible.
- This guide is not meant to be a substitute for information received directly from a state's Board of Bar Examiners.
- Before applying be sure to check your application against the State Bar website to ensure compliance with specific requirements.
Bar Exam Terms and Concepts

- Uniform Bar Exam - The UBE is a uniformly administered Bar Exam made up of 3 separate components. It is administered, graded, and scored by user jurisdictions and results in a portable score that may be transferred to other UBE jurisdictions if it qualifies.

- Dates of Exams - Each state controls where and when it administers its bar exam. Because the MBE is a standardized test, it must be administered on the same day across the country. That day occurs twice a year as the last Wednesday in July and the last Wednesday in February. Your state may require additional testing days, so check to see if your state administers a Tuesday/Wednesday exam, a Wednesday/Thursday exam, or a Tuesday/Wednesday/Thursday exam.

- Fees for Laptops - If a jurisdiction allows laptops, they will likely require an additional fee for using your own laptop for the exam.

- Board of Bar Examiners - The admission of attorneys to the practice of law is a judicial function. The Board of Bar Examiners of each state handles matters of bar admission.

- Character & Fitness - Every jurisdiction conducts a Character and Fitness Evaluation of every applicant. In most jurisdictions, students will complete a lengthy Character and Fitness questionnaire as part of the application process.

- UBE: Maximum Score Age - In jurisdictions that accept portable UBE scores taken in other jurisdictions, each sets a maximum time period in which that jurisdiction will accept a ported UBE score. These score ages vary by jurisdiction.

What is Admission by Porting a UBE Score?

- Some states will allow an applicant to “port” their UBE score.
- To port a score, an applicant may take the UBE in one jurisdiction and transfer his entire scaled score to apply to a different state bar within a certain period of time, it does not guarantee admission in any state.
- States that accept portable UBE scores are sometimes referred to as UBE jurisdictions.
- Each state sets its own time limit and minimum passing score for bar acceptance.
- In addition to porting your UBE score, an applicant must submit a bar application, complete a character and fitness exam, take the MPRE, and in some jurisdictions complete a state-specific component to be admitted.

How is the UBE Graded and Scored?

- The National Conference of Bar Examiners (NCBE) scores the Multi-State Bar Exam (MBE) component of the UBE. Jurisdictions grade the Multi-State Essay Exam (MEE) and the Multi-State Performance Test (MPT) components.
- The MEE and MPT scores are scaled to the MBE and UBE total scores are calculated by NCBE.
- The MBE is weighted 50%, the MEE 30%, and the MPT 20%. UBE total scores are reported on a 400-point scale. Jurisdictions set their own minimum passing scores for the UBE.
- The NCBE automatically reports UBE scores to jurisdictions in which examinees took the UBE, and the jurisdictions report the scores directly to their own examinees.

What is Admission by Portable MBE Score?

- Some states will allow an applicant to use a Portable MBE score.
- To port an MBE score an applicant may take the MBE in one jurisdiction and use only that MBE score to apply to a different state bar.
- Each state creates their own rules for MBE score portability.
- Some states do not permit the porting of an MBE score and require an applicant to sit for the MBE in their jurisdiction, regardless of the score attained.
- Other states allow for the porting of only MBE scores from concurrent scores, or exams taken consecutively, read jurisdiction information carefully to find out what your state allows.
What is the Uniform Bar Exam (UBE)?

- The Uniform Bar Exam (UBE) is a uniformly administered, graded, and scored bar exam resulting in a portable UBE score that can be transferred to other jurisdictions. Applicants who take the UBE can transfer their scores to jurisdictions that accept the UBE within a specified period of time that varies by jurisdiction. Passing UBE score varies based on rules provided by each jurisdiction.
- The administration of the UBE increases consistency in subjects tested across jurisdictions and maximizes job opportunities for test takers. The UBE also reduces the actual costs and opportunity costs of preparing for and taking the bar exam across multiple jurisdictions.
- Each UBE jurisdiction establishes their own requirements for admission; sets passing scores; administers the UBE; grades the MEE and MPT; makes character and fitness determinations; and may choose to administer a separate jurisdiction specific law component.
- The UBE is made up of three separate components, the Multi-state Performance Test (MPT), the Multi-state Essay Examination (MEE), and the Multi-state Bar Examination (MBE). Specific Jurisdictions may also require the completion of a separate jurisdiction specific law component.

* Jurisdictions may accept transferred UBE scores prior to the date of their first UBE administration. Even if the first UBE was administered 36 months ago, the jurisdiction may accept scores up to 60 months old.
Bar Admission

- So you studied for the Bar Exam, and you passed! Does that mean that you are a member of a State's Bar? Not yet.
- Passing the Bar Exam means that you have jumped over one hurdle on the path to Bar Admission.

In addition to completing the Bar Exam, applicants are required to:
- Participate in a state-specific Character and Fitness Determination;
- Pass the Multi-State Professional Responsibility Exam (MPRE);
- Pay any additional applicable fees;
- States vary in requirements, so be sure to check your state bar website.

Character and Fitness Determinations

- Applicants to any State's Bar are required to submit a Supplemental Application for Character and Fitness Determination.
- Each state promulgates its own rules for Applicant Character and Fitness Determination and may require the applicant to complete a questionnaire or submit forms and records.
- It is integral for each applicant to look at the State Bar website (to which they are applying), for accurate information on how that state requires Character and Fitness Determinations to be administered.
- The top four areas of concern for most bar examiners are existence of a criminal record, untreated mental illness and substance abuse, lack of candor, and financial irresponsibility.

The Multi-State Professional Responsibility Exam (MPRE)

- The MPRE is administered 3 times a year: (1) the first week in November, (2) the last week in March, and (3) the third week in August.
- The MPRE consists of a 2 hour, 60 multiple-choice questions: 50 scored questions and 10 unscored pretest questions.
- The subjects tested on the MPRE are: Regulation of the Legal Profession; the Lawyer-Client Relationship; Client Confidentiality; Conflicts of Interest, Competence, Malpractice, and Other Civil Liberty; Litigation and Other Forms of Advocacy; Transactions and Communications with persons Other than Clients; Different Roles of the Lawyer; Safekeeping Funds and Other Property; Communications about Legal Services; Lawyers’ Duties to the Public and the Legal System; Judicial Conduct
- Maryland and Wisconsin are the only states that do not require a passing MPRE score for admission
- The fee to register by the regular deadline is $95; the fee to register by the late deadline is $190.
- The MPRE registration fee must be paid by credit card or by e-check.
- The MPRE registration fee entitles you to receive one score release for your own records and to have a score report sent to the board of bar examiners of the jurisdiction you designate during the registration process.
- If you do not designate a jurisdiction before the exam, or if you decide you would like to have your MPRE score sent to additional jurisdictions, you must request and pay for a score report after the examination through

What is Admission on Motion for Practicing Attorneys?

- Some states permit admission on motion by practicing attorneys, which allows eligible candidates to bypass sitting for a state’s bar examination, if licensed in a state with “reciprocity” to the applicant's admitted bar state.
- Reciprocity is a mutual agreement between states that says, “licensed attorneys from your state do not need to take the bar exam in our state, so long as, licensed attorneys from our state do not need to take the bar exam in your state.”
- Some states allow for admission on motion that is not based on reciprocity. Those states have a list of requirements and any attorney that meets those requirements may apply for admission to that state bar.
- Other states have unique rules when it comes to admission on motion based on reciprocity, so be sure to check a jurisdiction’s rules for specific information.
The MEE consists of six 30-minute questions. Some questions may include issues in more than one area of law and vary from exam to exam.

The MPT is a closed universe practical problem, applicants will be given the law (statutes, cases, and other reference material) and a problem and will be asked to answer using the data provided.

The MBE is a six-hour, 200-question multiple-choice examination.

Subjects Tested: Constitutional Law, Contracts/Sales, Criminal Law, Criminal Procedure, Evidence, Real Property, Torts, Civil Procedure

The MEE consists of six 30-minute questions.

Some questions may include issues in more than one area of law and vary from exam to exam.

Candidates must meet specific requirements including:

1. You hold a J.D. degree from an ABA accredited law school.
2. You have actively practiced law for 5 of the prior 7 years.
3. You were admitted by bar examination either in a reciprocal jurisdiction and/or another jurisdiction (If admission by bar examination is in a non-reciprocal jurisdiction, then “active practice” must have occurred in reciprocal jurisdictions).
4. You possess current moral fitness.
5. You have earned (or will earn) a minimum score of 75 on the MPRE during your lifetime.
6. Paid admission on motion fee of $875.
7. You have become a resident with the intention to maintain and conduct a primary practice in Alabama.

Alabama has reciprocity with the following states: Alaska, Colorado, Connecticut, District of Columbia, Georgia, Illinois, Indiana, Kansas, Kentucky, Maine, Massachusetts, Michigan, Minnesota, Mississippi, Missouri, Nebraska, New Hampshire, New Mexico, Ohio, Oklahoma, Pennsylvania, Tennessee, Texas, Utah, Virginia, Washington, Wisconsin, Wyoming

If an applicant seeking admission without examination is admitted to practice law in a state not listed above, the applicant must submit a complete Certificate of Jurisdictional Reciprocity with his or her application.

• An applicant can take the bar exam as many times as necessary for passage without special permission.
